OF THE POSTAL APPROPRIATION BILL

Makes an Unpleasant Discovery—The [illegible] Whisky Bill—Work Outlined for Con[illegible] this Week—News and Gossip

Gossip about General Sherman's Politics.

[illegible], March 23.—[Special.] One of the [illegible] gossip now prevalent concerning Gen. Sherman's views of politics. It is stated that [illegible] of the army not stationed in Washington [illegible] said to another gentleman [illegible] he had received from Gen. [illegible] in which the latter spoke [illegible] he had no love for [illegible] party saying he [illegible]. This officer is one who has al[illegible] Sherman's confidence. After reading the [illegible] said: "You know I have been assured that Sherman would not accept the nomination [illegible]. Undoubtedly he would refuse to be [illegible] candidate, but he would not [illegible] if offered him by democrats." Outside of [illegible] friends of the late general of the [illegible] always been supposed that [illegible] his sympathies were with the re[illegible]. This impression doubtless arose [illegible] fact that he was Grant's intimate [illegible] brother of Senator Sherman and compan[illegible] General Van Vliet, whose radicalism is un[illegible]. Coming as it does from an officer whose [illegible] would be used would carry much weight [illegible] that General Sherman would accept [illegible] nomination is curious if not significant.

The Chinese Minister's Intentions.

[illegible], March 23.—[Special.]—The Chinese [illegible] will send his wife and baby recently [illegible] to China in May next [illegible] in this city [illegible] they will re[illegible] be reappointed. His term of three years [illegible] until December [illegible] and his family in China [illegible] will join [illegible] is nearly eight [illegible] born in this country of parents [illegible]. She is named "America," which [illegible]. The minister says that he named [illegible] that after his return to China she [illegible] of this country and because it is [illegible].

Postmasters Commissioned.

CONGRESSIONAL CHIT-CHAT

[illegible] AGAINST THE POSTAL APPROPRIATION BILL.

[illegible], March 23.—[Special.]—A great deal [illegible] is being made by officials of the post [illegible] at the condition of the postal a[illegible] bill as it passed the house. The bill [illegible] the payment for carrying mails 5 per [illegible] reduces the pay to all land grant railroads [illegible] of the amount paid other roads. As the [illegible] this, the postoffice officials say some of the [illegible] already notified the postoffice department [illegible] at the price offered, and it [illegible] expected the from this source will arise a [illegible] and delay. The bill provided [illegible] extension of the free delivery service, as the [illegible] general is now authorized to extend [illegible], service to a great extent. As [illegible] the postmasters' salaries have been diare[illegible] and the result is that a deficiency of at least [illegible] will be found to exist for the next house [illegible]. Estimates for the pay of railway [illegible] have been reduced $300,000 and for mail [illegible] $50,000. The outcome of this will be [illegible] postmaster-general cannot [illegible] and the rail[illegible] service in any manner whatever as he will [illegible] money to pay additional clerks and none to [illegible] mails from the offices to the [illegible]. The postal authorities say the bill as it [illegible] appropriates nearly $4,000,000 less than the [illegible] will not amend, it will seriously cripple [illegible]. The senate will probably amend it.

THE [illegible] INVESTIGATION.

[illegible] March 23.—[Special.]—One result of [illegible] investigation into the affairs of the di[illegible] will be seen in the appropriation [illegible] be reported soon for the support [illegible] the next fiscal year. Under the present [illegible] United States district attorney and the [illegible] clerks of United States courts are paid [illegible] the maximum limit being fixed [illegible] all amounts received are supposed to be [illegible] into the treasury. The investigation has [illegible] the fact that in dull seasons trivial [illegible] frequently made for the purpose of raising [illegible] to the requisite amount for all [illegible] these officers. In some districts it [illegible] shown that fees, if any, returns [illegible] of an excess in fees over the [illegible] all [illegible] of the executive, legislative and judicial [illegible] bill which affects the department of [illegible] provide for the payment of these three [illegible] officers by regular salaries not depending [illegible] amount of fees earned. The necessary [illegible] of deputies will be provided for each, these [illegible] and marshals being paid at about $1200 a [illegible].

[illegible] MAKES AN UNPLEASANT DISCOVERY.

[illegible], March 23.—[Special.]—Representative [illegible] reported to be somewhat chagrined at a [illegible] he has made since he introduced his resolution [illegible] for an investigation of the Alaska [illegible] Company's contract with the govern[illegible] of the resolutions was said to be [illegible] expectation that an investigation would [illegible] large part of [illegible] republican campaign [illegible] California [illegible] contributed by the [illegible] company. He now knows that the [illegible] stock in that concern is [illegible] democrats and that the largest [illegible] to the democratic campaign fund [illegible] the largest contribution it received. [illegible] received information that this stock [illegible] with his hasty effort to gather [illegible] democratic use in the campaign on [illegible], and that this displeasure may have [illegible] upon Mr. [illegible] political hopes [illegible] of the fact that the democratic [illegible] committee investigated the Alaska [illegible] is based on the ground that he is [illegible].

THE WHISKY BILL.

[illegible], March 23.—[Special.]—Contrary [illegible] no vote was reached on the whisky [illegible] and the present indications [illegible] will not be disposed of until after the [illegible] caucus next Tuesday night. Various [illegible] proposed among them being propo[illegible] repeal the tobacco tax, to reduce the tax [illegible] distilled from spirits, to repeal the tax on [illegible], etc. If the speaker should [illegible] the proposed amendments [illegible] be indefinitely extended. But there is a [illegible] that some or all of them would be [illegible] that the principle of the govern[illegible] materially lessened thereby. Further [illegible] argument against the passage [illegible] bill. The bill not having [illegible] upon to-day it cannot come [illegible] and will not be again brought [illegible] until Tuesday, when it can be easily [illegible] until the hour of adjournment. After [illegible] the whisky bill can be put [illegible] any apprehension of trouble or [illegible] amendments.

[illegible] ANTI-OPIUM BILL.

[illegible] Prohibit the Importation or Sale of the Drug.

[illegible], March 23.—[Special.]—The Chronicle [illegible] of California is one of the best [illegible] program on the Chinese question. He [illegible] the passage of his bill to prohibit [illegible] importation of opium or any of its [illegible] which are used in opium [illegible] so freely on the Pacific coast. He [illegible] to his bill that the habit and [illegible] smoking have been introduced [illegible] and is spreading with fearful rap[illegible] following case of the Chinese. He [illegible] that the habit has grown upward [illegible], during the past year, the im[illegible] increasing from [illegible] to [illegible]. During the past year, Act to this [illegible] reduced the duty [illegible] per [illegible]. This is winking at [illegible] be overcome when once ac[illegible] will not [illegible] where [illegible] Fifty per cent of the [illegible] on the Pacific coast are addicted [illegible] the question of the importation of [illegible] large extent of the people [illegible] will punish anyone [illegible] interested in having imported [illegible] of opium [illegible]. By [illegible] imprisonment not to exceed five [illegible] the sale of the drug.

Democrats and the Tariff.

WASHINGTON, March 23.—[Special.]—There will be a democratic caucus [illegible] tariff bill comes before the house. [illegible] caucus will be called on to adopt the Morrison bill as a party measure. It is the intention [illegible] to force the fighting. They propose to put Mr. Randall and his friends [illegible] in a corner, if possible, and if [illegible] the caucus will tell whether [illegible]. There [illegible] Mr. Randall will have to make his fight. Said a Morrison man:

"We propose to make the adoption of this bill a party issue and let Mr. Randall and his friends bolt the caucus if they dare. We shall apply the strongest party rule to [illegible] he has himself applied to the minority of his party many times before this. That is all there is to it. The great majority of the party are solid for this bill. If the minority of party democrats who, I understand, are opposed to it want to take the responsibility of bolting it [illegible] party on this question, why let them. You know what becomes of bolters."

What will become of these?

"Why, they simply [illegible] themselves out of the party, and that ends them. They dare not bolt, they [illegible]."

This uncomfortable state of affairs is likely to produce a serious rupture [illegible] the party, on the one hand insisting that it shall stand together in this fight, and the constitutional [illegible] of the democratic [illegible] on the other demanding adherence to their [illegible]. Morrison proposes to [illegible] when the caucus meets.

TEMPERANCE STATISTICS

Startling Facts Relating to Consumption of Liquor in Maine.

[illegible], March 23.—Hon. Thomas W. [illegible] has created a great interest [illegible] of statistics [illegible] of [illegible] in the [illegible] 48,000 criminals [illegible] in the [illegible] States [illegible] 10,000 [illegible] criminals [illegible] and [illegible] the police departments of New York and Brooklyn [illegible] disorderly conduct [illegible] New York 10,000 liquor saloons [illegible] twenty-five feet [illegible] would [illegible] twenty-five miles long, 125 [illegible] asylum [illegible] two-thirds of [illegible] 1600 convicts [illegible] of whom became criminals through intemperance. Thirty per cent of the prison population of Massachusetts is between 20 [illegible] years of age. In Pennsylvania the convicts [illegible] under 16 years [illegible] had never learned any trade [illegible] were habitual drunkards. One-fifth of the criminal population [illegible] in cities of over 100,000 [illegible] mostly manufacturing towns. Crime and drunkenness are on the increase in manufacturing towns. Maine has a bad showing [illegible] Portland last year [illegible] arrests [illegible] drunkenness and drunken brawls. The lecturer exposed the [illegible] of Portland, Bangor and other large towns in the state and the easy manner in which liquor can be procured in Maine [illegible] privately and publicly and emphatically [illegible] that prohibition does not prohibit [illegible] and sustained by public sentiment of the majority who must compel the public authorities to enforce the law. He advocated moral methods for the drunkard and kindness and humanity for the reformation of criminals and the abolition of prison contract labor and cruel punishments. His statements relative to the open violation of the Maine liquor law and increase of drunkenness in the state have created a profound sensation among all classes, especially among prohibitionists.

The Walla Walla Statesman has been gathering reports of the condition of fall sown wheat. Every where farmers report that it looks as well as at any time since October. Eight and three-tenths inches of rain has fallen and as the creeks and rivers have not overflowed, all this sunk into the ground.

The losses by the Colfax fire are as follows: [illegible] Barry, postmaster, loss $2500, insurance $1750; [illegible] Bogardus, jewelry store, loss $7000, insurance $5000; G. W. [illegible] drugs, loss $7000, fully insured; F. R. McKenley, variety, loss $600, insurance $400. Various other parties were damaged slightly.

The other day Oscar Nelson, living at Goldendale, was severely injured by a pebble hurled from a nigger shooter, a dangerous weapon made of a piece of India rubber and a forked stick. The pebble struck him in the forehead near the eyes. For nearly a week but faint hopes were entertained of his recovery, but he is now better and will probably get well.

Dayton Chronicle: It is reported that several parties will attempt to file upon railroad land in this county this week, with the intention of testing the title of the company to the land. The parties who are interested in the matter are men of determination and will stay with it until they know the true inwardness of the whole business.

The Walla Walla cannery is now closed and the canning company is undecided what steps to take in the future. The fruits and vegetables put up last season are largely on hand, there being no sale on account of buyers preferring to purchase where they can secure a full assortment. There is little prospect of a supply of peaches, plums and pears this year and as a consequence the canners will doubtless remain closed.

TARIFF TALK.

Watterson Issues Another Pronunciamento to the Democracy.

HE WANTS THE TARIFF QUESTION SETTLED

Randall and his Protectionist Friends Again Read Out of the Party—The Great Caucus Called for Next Tuesday

WASHINGTON, March 23.—[Special.]—The call for the democratic caucus on the tariff bill next Tuesday was [illegible] in the house yesterday, but it has [illegible] Henry Watterson, who [illegible] pronunciamento [illegible] the tariff reading [illegible] of the democratic party the opponents of the Morrison bill has been the subject of so much comment sent another screed [illegible] to a paper last night. Mr. Watterson yesterday said that his first assault was [illegible] by Speaker Carlisle and [illegible] of the house. It is not known how many of the revenue reformers endorse his latest epistle.

Mr. Watterson says: "[illegible] whether we have or we have not the democratic party. If we have not, the sooner [illegible] better. If we have, it is full time [illegible] to determine where we stand and just what we shall do. [illegible] Mr. Carlisle speaker of the house and Mr. M[illegible] chairman of its revenue committee the [illegible] entrusted upon the assembling of the present session of congress. They more than any others will be held responsible for the results of that leadership. Its consequences for good or ill will be visited upon them. Nor were they chosen without advisement. The election of one which embraced the appointment of the other was reached [illegible] elaborate discussion. Not a democrat in or out of congress but understood perfectly the meaning of the issue of principle and [illegible] by the defeat of Mr. Randall. It was [illegible] that there should be a reduction [illegible] of the party [illegible] we may [illegible]."

MUCH ABUSED MORRISON.

Under the [illegible] of the debates of an eight [illegible] party lines were [illegible] Mr. Morrison [illegible] the construction of a [illegible] to that extent [illegible] of his colleagues [illegible] to get all they wanted or all they [illegible] framing his measure Morrison [illegible] to determine how [illegible] he should or should not [illegible] has the fruit of his wisdom and [illegible] so simple direct [illegible] upon their promulgation they struck a [illegible] of terror [illegible] republican camp where the more sagacious among the republican leaders [illegible] of coping with a novel plan [illegible] and misrepresent they [illegible] grapple with a measure of reduction [illegible] the underlying principle of which [illegible] have at one time or another committed [illegible].

THE TRAITOR RANDALL.

It has taken [illegible] months to bring us to this [illegible] Mr. Morrison has exercised [illegible] although he has gone [illegible] reasonable concessions [illegible] the resources of con[illegible] to reach [illegible] common [illegible] towards a closing [illegible] the works of the enemy [illegible] in the [illegible] beat and [illegible] accomplish their [illegible] Pennsylvania is the democratic party and that Ohio is its [illegible]. The [illegible] we should build the tariff as high as the [illegible] not carry Pennsylvania [illegible] and lose Ohio.

THE PROTECTIONIST PROTEST.

Hence [illegible] obstinate and less interested people see [illegible] of the democratic party outside of [illegible] as great and good as they are conceded to be. Because they [illegible] because they say they do. Mr. Randall and his followers put up a protest that they [illegible] out of the party. God forbid. No man can read another out of his party. If the other does not want to [illegible] but a man may read him[illegible] out of his party [illegible] refusing to go into a [illegible] upon a vital is[illegible] with the [illegible] purpose of acting with the [illegible]. It such [illegible] be the meaning of all this [illegible] Randall and his friends will find them[illegible] the manifesto or pronun[illegible] to [illegible] else they may please to call [illegible] out of the democratic and into the republican ranks.

THEY [illegible] BOLT.

[illegible] in general is the democratic situation in the [illegible]. While Mr. Morrison is seeking earnestly and honestly to carry on the [illegible] which the organization of the house gave him and by the [illegible] of honorable congressional [illegible] the will of the majority Mr. Randall is by all manner of artifice seeking to take Mr. Morrison's measure of tariff reform out of the hands of its friends and carry it over to the camp of the enemy. He may mislead a few weak kneed congressmen who confused by the fetid atmosphere of the house fancy there is no hereafter, but his design and his plan of campaign are perfectly transparent to the people who are looking with a jealous understanding and clear eyes at all that is passing at Washington and who if vacillation, cowardice and ignorance in those they sent here to represent them shall lose the presidential election will expect next fall of every recalcitrant a full and explicit bill of particulars.

TUESDAY'S CAUCUS.

WASHINGTON, March 23.—[Special.]—Over 400,000 copies of the speech made by Speaker Carlisle on the tariff commission bill March 28 and 29, 1883, have been circulated since the date of its delivery, a greater number than was ever distributed of any single speech made in congress. Copies of this speech are printed at the government printing office at an actual cost of $48 for 5000 copies, or $3840 for the number thus far published.

Tuesday's caucus will bring to a head the tariff issue in the democratic ranks. It will be noticed that the call does not state the objects of the meeting, nor yet define how far the powers shall go in the way [illegible].

[illegible] conduct of those who [illegible] member of the party needs stay away in order to reserve his independence. The call, however, is regular in form, and the meeting will be [illegible] to follow the ordinary precedents—that is, it will be a party caucus.

THE McDONALD BOOM.

Among other things the caucus may have an important bearing on the [illegible] of the present movement on the part of the McDonald boom. Watters [illegible] executive officer of this combination and his utterances [illegible] the views of his chief are read [illegible] and his particular friends. If this caucus reads incidental protection out of the party it reads out at the same time certain [illegible] McDonald's hopes for [illegible] namely, Randall, Tilden, Payne and other men of that stamp. The question is, will they go out if the caucus reads them out? Mr. Eaton, for instance, says not. He thinks that the [illegible] bigger than the ship. This point must be decided. The question will come up in two ways: First on candidates and second on the platform. One side or the other must therefore win so far as 1884 is concerned, and it will then appear whether the controversy has become so radical that the defeated faction will bolt.

THE LIQUOR QUESTION

A Trenchant Letter from the Rev. Theodore L. Cuyler on the High License Bill of New York

NEW YORK, March 23.—Theodore L. Cuyler, the eminent Brooklyn divine, has written a trenchant letter to the Evening Post which created considerable remark. He says: In common with some other lifelong advocates of the total suppression of tippling houses I have signed a petition for the passage of Mr. Roosevelt's bill for increasing the license fees of all dramshops. As a prohibitionist I want to see this bill passed and rigidly enforced. The system of licensing saloons of public temptation (which my conscience revolts at) is actually in force and is likely to remain so in our large cities for some time to come. If these saloons are licensed then let the fees be so high that both the number of drinking haunts shall be reduced and also the number of grog sellers who are now the most dangerous factor in our local politics.

Many excellent citizens and philanthropists firmly believe that the high license system will not only curtail the number of saloons but will materially diminish drinking, drunkenness and crime. Of this latter result I am by no means sanguine, but let us have the experiment fairly tried. If it works favorably then we teetotalers will rejoice, for a small slice is better than no bread. If the experiment fails then we can say to Messrs. Roosevelt, Crosby and others: "Now your reaper has been fairly tried and it will not cut. It is in order to try next some more stringent plan for suppressing a huge public evil."

He further says that he believes the best method of regulating and removing drunkenness is local prohibition or local control—a fair republican method.

"Why, the Standard Oil Company," was the reply.

The same question was asked about the opera house, a toll bridge, a weekly newspaper and a market house and the same replies were received.

"Is there anything in this town on which the Standard Oil Company hasn't got its clutch?" finally asked the stranger.

"Why, yes; there's the Baptist church."

TUTT'S PILLS

TORPID BOWELS, DISORDERED LIVER, and MALARIA.

From these sources arise three-fourths of the diseases of the human race. These symptoms indicate their existence: Loss of Appetite, Bowels costive, Sick Headache, fullness after eating, aversion to exertion of body or mind, Eructation of food, Irritability of temper, Low spirits, A feeling of having neglected some duty, Dizziness, Fluttering at the Heart, Dots before the eyes, highly colored Urine, CONSTIPATION, and demand the use of a remedy that acts directly on the Liver. As a Liver medicine TUTT'S PILLS have no equal. Their action on the Kidneys and Skin is also prompt; removing all impurities through these three scavengers of the system, producing appetite, sound digestion, regular stools, a clear skin and a vigorous body.

ANTIDOTE TO MALARIA.

The Daily Oregonian.

MONDAY MORNING, MARCH 24, 1884.

THE ALASKA COMMERCIAL COMPANY.

Representative Henley of California, as our recent dispatches have stated, has introduced in the house a resolution to provide for the appointment of a special committee to investigate the affairs of the Alaska Commercial Company, with a view to ascertaining "how it obtained its leave from the government in 1870 to catch seals in Alaskan waters, and also to discover how it came about that former investigations by authority of congress resulted only in praise of the corporation." While the tone of this resolution would suggest the probability that Mr. Henley's main object is only to fling buncombe for his party, yet it is not possible for any one having the faintest idea of the methods of that great corporation—the Alaska Commercial Company—to hesitate in believing that its conduct should be inquired into and probed to the bottom. The country has given the company this lease, and it has a perfect right to know all the workings of the company and the consequences of its policy and conduct.

It will be all that any committee can do to force open the doors of this great monopoly's distant kennel and give the country a glimpse of the color of the dog inside of it, without trying to find out why former committees failed to do their duty. We want facts, not clap-traps for political consumption. This last course would result only in the usual row between the two great political parties, while the company to be investigated would escape in the fog of a partisan controversy.

If Mr. Henley has in good faith taken off his political coat and rolled up his investigating sleeves, in short, if he is in real earnest without regard to party, he will find many supporters, especially in the northwest, near to whose doors are the doings of the Alaska company. There is nothing new in Mr. Henley's allegation that this corporation controls nearly every government officer in Alaska and half a dozen in San Francisco. For years this has been apparent. The point to be investigated is this, namely, whether these officers, holding a double emolument, have favored the getter or the giver of their positions, or, briefly, the Alaska Commercial Company or the government. As this company is purely a financial corporation, the reasons why it has sought and obtained so many political appointments, and whether those reasons have been realized, is of ten-fold more importance in the investigation than rehashing the doings of some old committee that may have whitewashed them. It might also be well to ask whether everything, or nearly everything, done by government in Alaska is not more or less in the clutches of this corporation—in short, whether there exists such a thing as United States authority of any kind in Alaska, unless it first receives the approval of this company.

The natural channel of communication with Alaska is through Portland, and doubly so since the completion of the Northern Pacific railroad. Portland is already the base of southeastern Alaska, and provides a steamer line to that part, so that anyone desiring to invest there may do so as far as crippled laws (or no laws) will allow. Over all the remainder of Alaska the fur seal monopoly furnishes the only means of transit, and as its whole object is to keep the country a sealed book, it amounts to no transit at all. It is now becoming generally known that the Yukon river abounds with fine salmon to supply almost any number of canneries, and as the whole fish of the Columbia river are likely to find a ready demand in the great cities of the east, at prices that will make canning problematical in the near future, Portland and Astoria must look to the Yukon and its tributaries as a paying point for canning interests, should they become precarious near by.

Again, the lease now in force will expire in 1890 and our capitalists have a longing eye for the time of its renewal. In 1870 some of them endeavored to get a hearing for a proposition that would have been much more favorable to the government than the lease secured by the San Francisco company, but were defeated by an influence more potent than they could bring to bear. Skillful management employed upon members of congress secured, on promise to pay $3 50 per seal skin, a lease that enables the company to take 100,000 skins annually, each of which brings in a rough state in London not less than $17 50, and about $100 when manufactured. A lease that has made big millionaires of half a dozen men who started in with but $4000 certainly has not been so profitable for the government as it ought. The lease system may be necessary to protect the seals from extermination, but we can find in Portland within twenty-four hours ten times the capital necessary to guarantee $10 per skin, or three times the revenue California monopolists pay. The great fault of the government was in allowing this lease to be made at the fraudulently low figure of $3 50. It is well known that the company wants the matter kept quiet so that it can slip into the lease again without competition. Portland cannot afford to allow this, and should keep her eyes open to the business.

Of course the Alaska Commercial Company cares mainly for the seal islands, and very little for the great bulk of Alaska. But the company has always opposed in the most determined manner all efforts and propositions looking to exploration of the country or establishment of business there, because its policy is to keep this want of knowledge of the country as a curtain between itself and the public, so that its own operations may be concealed and its monopoly perpetuated. Thus, it is the object of the Alaska Commercial Company to keep that vast region another "dark continent." But it should be the object of our people, and those of Portland in particular, to know every nook and corner of the territory. Great possibilities of profitable business lie in that direction. Besides the salmon prospects spoken of, we want to know if the ore mined at Golovin bay cannot be brought here and smelted cheaper than in San Francisco; we want to know more about the Shumagin cod fisheries, and if we cannot through them build up some substantial fishing villages near by with men drawn from Maine and Massachusetts; we want to know if the $1,000,000 annual catch of the Arctic whale fisheries above Behring's strait cannot save 1000 miles of sea-voyage to our port and half as many by railroad to headquarters in New Bedford; and last, but far from least, we want a "fair show" at the auction of the seal lease in 1889 or 1890, should congress determine to continue it. We want to know all these things and a hundred more of benefit to us in a commercial sense, and if the government is so shackled by this company that we shall be shut out from knowing them, we want to know that too.

Just how close a clutch this corporation has no one may ever know, but it is well worth trying to find out, and in the investigation no city is more interested than our own. This company has the redeeming feature of paying its employes very well—much higher wages than usually allotted to similar positions—and while this looks well in one way, it looks bad in another. It looks, indeed, as if it had an object that would not bear examination. Much pretended solicitude has at times been shown by the company or its agents for the interests of Alaska, whenever the clamor of people became great. Its senator in congress last December introduced a bill to give Alaska a civil government. Now, if Henry Ward Beecher had advocated free whisky, or Gerdes spoken in favor of temperance, we would not have been more surprised than when this bill came from this source, but on looking far down in one of the heavily wooded districts of the bill, among a chapparal of legal phraseology, we find the following:

> Indians are not to be disturbed in the possession of their lands, and the United States is to relinquish its title to such lots of land as were specified in the transfer of the territory as belonging to the Russian Greek church, or which have been occupied or improved by bona fide residents and citizens or corporations doing business in said territory since, by permission of the United States authorities, and title to the same shall rest in the bona fide owners or occupants thereof, upon the payment of a price per acre to be fixed by the secretary of the interior.

Closely following is a mass of verbiage about lands for missionary and religious uses. It only requires close reading of the above, with attention to the context, to show that under this act the company, by payment of a few thousand dollars, would become perpetual owners of the seal islands. Undoubtedly that purpose lurks in the bill. It is intelligible only on this interpretation.

Alaska should be known. Resources exist there of which the people of the United States have a right to avail themselves. The country was bought with their money, and therefore is their property. Government has employes enough who would willingly undertake the work of full exploration. Private adventure would accomplish it if the Alaska monopoly were not allowed to interpose so many obstacles. During the whole of the past winter telegraph dispatches came at frequent intervals to THE OREGONIAN describing a fine vessel getting ready for the coast survey, to be used wholly in Alaskan waters. Her complete dimensions and cost of $150 000 to $200,000 were given three times, and much hurrah was expended on the subject; yet now the information dribbles out that she will not be ready for two years. It will take four or five years to do any work, and two or three to write up the report, and even that will be confined to the coast; and in the mean time the new lease will be acted on or the seal islands bought for a bagatelle. A "pointer" has been given out in the announcement that the prospective son-in-law of the head of the Alaska Commercial Company is to command this vessel; so that even if it should ever get off, an exceedingly small book will hold all the useful information about Alaska that the expedition will give to the American public. Let us hope that Mr. Henley will go ahead with his investigation. And we bespeak for him all possible support from Oregon's delegation in congress.

CIVIL-SERVICE REFORM.

All the cabinet officers say that the reformed system of administering the civil service of the government, which has been in operation for about a year, has already resulted in an appreciable improvement, and that it promises still greater benefits in the future. This testimony is more interesting and valuable because no member of the cabinet has ever advocated this reform, while one at least—Mr. Chandler—has openly scoffed at it. Now Mr. Chandler says that the "good effect of the law in preventing pressure for places and in giving heads of departments, bureaus and officers their time for the performance of their duties, has been manifested throughout the public service." Secretary Frelinghuysen bears similar testimony to the relief from the pressure of office-seekers. Secretary Folger also says "that the solicitation for appointments has almost entirely ceased, and is kept up only rarely and from ignorance, bringing relief to persons in official or influential positions from the importunities of office-seekers and their friends." Secretary Teller, who was formerly opposed to the system, acknowledges that there has been a very perceptible diminution of the pressure on the department for appointments, thus not only allowing the heads of departments to devote their time to other purposes than that of listening to the importunities of applicants, but also saving senators and members of congress from the disagreeable duty of soliciting appointments at the demand of their constituents, even when they knew it was impossible for the heads of the department to comply with their requests. Secretary Lincoln, Postmaster General Gresham and Attorney General Brewster all agree that the law has relieved them from personal applications for office. The only criticism upon the methods of the commissioners is not the old complaint that no one but college professors can pass the examination, but that the standard is not high enough. With this defect corrected Secretary Chandler thinks that the system will supply the best men for the service. Mr. Brewster was originally opposed to the reform, but he now says: "My knowledge of the public service and the proper method of appointing persons to it, was derived mainly from others and they were persons who had large experience, and through a long lifetime of political action, had convinced themselves that the system of examination and the exclusion of politics from such appointments was romantic and fantastic. All of these preconceived notions I have abandoned. I have observed the influence of the system in its application to other departments and I have learned from others who have enjoyed its benefits enough to convince me that it will be a serious mistake to revoke the law and readopt the old method. The merit of the new system," says Secretary Folger, "is this—that whereas, under the former system, the applicant was brought to the notice of the appointing power by the special application of some one having a special interest in him, now it is opened to every one on his own motion, without any favor sought, to offer himself as a competitor, and, if meritorious, to succeed." These officers are not "doctrinaires," "dreamers," nor "Anglo-maniacs," but practical men, and some of them are eminent politicians. They are in a position to know how the reform works and they all declare that it works well. It is a step in the right direction.

But the civil service should be more completely divorced from politics than will be accomplished by the system which these commissioners are carrying out, and nothing, we believe, would contribute more directly to that end than a radical revision of the salaries of federal officers. The theory upon which a large proportion of the salaries are fixed is that federal officers are important public characters, rather than the laborious servants of the people. In a great many cases the officer might be entirely dispensed with. The assistant or the head clerk, who now does the work, might just as well be the head official. Then there would be no superfluous postmasters and customs officers with ample leisure to meddle in politics. Under the present system there has been no disguising the fact that these superfluous offices have been used to subsidize the press and reward party service. We can name many instances where we have personal knowledge that editors and publishers of newspapers have been given these offices, on the plea, openly made, that their appointment was necessary in order to maintain republican newspapers. During General Grant's presidency this practice was notorious, and it has not been unknown under more recent administrations. Now, if the salary of the postmaster was reduced to the amount which the assistant, the man who actually has charge of the office, receives, there would be no temptation to politicians to seek the offices. For politicians are not fond of hard work, and there would be nothing in the offices that could be employed by an administration to reward its friends. The spoils system would be destroyed, because there would be no spoils. There would then be no place for Judge Thurman's boys "to warm their toes," and there would be nothing to induce Mr. Flannagan of Texas to attend political conventions.

The Times-Mountaineer (The Dalles) urges citizens to take action in behalf of high license in that city. At present the license fee is but $100 for places where all liquors are sold, and $60 for beer halls. This is entirely too small. The Times-Mountaineer says: "The license fee should be raised to at least $300, and perhaps $500 would not be too much. We have too many saloons now, and if by raising the tax on them we could diminish the number one-half, we would pave the way for more stringent legislation. To accomplish anything the work must be earnest and determined."

Enclose 10 cents and the address of an eastern friend to this office, for the statistical OREGONIAN. The best medium to circulate in the east.

THE STATE TAX QUESTION.

The State Journal (Eugene City) puts in plain words a view of the tax question at which other papers of the rural counties have hinted, namely, that it is entirely proper to assess money and credits at their full value, and at the same time to assess property in other forms at one-third or one-fourth of its value. Land and many other kinds of property, it is said, may not bring in much income, but credits may, and usually do; and the owner of credits can therefore afford to pay the higher rate of taxation. Passing over the palpable fact that this reasoning violates openly both the constitution and statutes of the state, it is apparent to all fair intelligence that business cannot be done on a principle which discriminates in this way against money and credits, since it throws upon them a weight of taxation three or four times greater than that to which property in other forms is liable; and if this is to become the settled policy of the state, general stagnation will ensue and a deep and lasting sleep will fall upon all enterprise within the state. Credits are the very foundation of business. Make the conditions such that credits cannot exist, and there will be about the same degree of commercial and industrial activity as the captain of the Tonquin found among our Chinook Indians three-quarters of a century ago.

But the argument that underrates the income obtainable from land, in order to support this theory of taxation, is clearly false. Either the land will produce more income than is conceded by the argument, or its value is not what it is admitted to be. If it will produce no more than two or three per cent income then certainly it is not worth much. But offer to buy it, and see what its value is. Take any average farm appraised by the assessor, say at $2500. Offer the owner $8000, or even $10,000 cash for it, and the probability is that the offer will be curtly refused. It is often found that a tract of land is assessed at no more than one-half the amount of the mortgage upon it; yet the mortgage covers not more than one-third of the actual value of the land. A case reported by a Washington county correspondent is in point. A land holder owns 2358 acres of land, set down on the assessor's books at a valuation of $19 410; yet mortgages on this same land are assessed at $33,000. As it is a rule with lenders to advance upon land only about one-third of its actual cash value, it is easy to see the falsity of these undervaluations which assessors make. No; land has not that trifling value which the Lane county Journal would represent. Money could be had in a day in Portland to buy every acre of land in that county at three times the valuation placed upon it by the assessor. But the owners of the land know its value, and wouldn't take it. This refutes at once the pretense that only a meager income, if any at all, can be obtained from the land. The present owner knows better, since he wouldn't take for the land three times the sum at which it is appraised by the assessor; the capitalist knows better, since he would gladly give three times the amount of the assessor's appraisement.

Real estate in Portland is also undervalued wrongfully and to as great extent as lands in the agricultural counties. The vicious system prevails throughout the whole state. But it is not pretended in Portland, when a piece of real property is assessed say at $10,000, that this is all it is worth. The owner and assessor admit it is worth three, four or five times as much, but the appraisement is kept down because it is known that the other counties will not return more than one-quarter of their true valuation. A state board, properly constituted, to correct and equalize values could adjust this fairly among all the counties and distribute the state tax equitably among them. Brethren of the press, let us join in urging that this be done. Honesty is sadly needed in this matter. Consent to advance the appraisement of land for taxation to something like its actual cash value and Multnomah county, instead of presenting an assessment roll of less than twenty millions, will show for state and general taxation a roll of seventy to eighty millions. Then we shall have small tax levies in all the counties and credits, no longer taxed three or four times as heavily as property in other forms will cease to feel the burden; money will be offered in abundance for needed undertakings; interest will be reduced, and business of all kinds will feel the impulse of a new life. But if we can't have these results, let us at least have candor in our statements, and not pretend that a grossly erroneous and inequitable system of taxation is judicious and fair.

BAD DRAINAGE.

Two brothers in Schenectady, N. Y., recently died from typhoid fever, contracted by drinking water from a well into which a cess pool drained. There is no doubt that in places where the water supply is not drawn from sources easily contaminated by sewage there is great danger from effluvia arising from the soil itself; and to this source most of the "malarial fever" that has been so prevalent during the last decade may be traced. As towns grow and houses are built close together the inhabitants are apt to forget that what was good enough for their fathers is not good enough for them, and neglect to use the "ounce of prevention" and provide for a proper disposal of sewage before the need of it is demonstrated in some painful manner. In the British Medical Journal there is an interesting statement respecting the liabilities of landlords for bad drainage. It says: "In a recent number of the Journal we drew attention to the fact that in the Glasgow sheriff court damages had been obtained by a tenant against his landlord for the ill consequences arising from the defective drainage of the house. This case has been followed by another at Dumbarton, where a similar action has been raised and tried in the court there, the plaintiff suing for damages in consequence of a bad state of drainage and of the sanitary arrangements of the house, whereby the health of the inmates suffered. Some of the items claimed were disallowed on legal grounds, but the important point is, that the judge made an order in favor of the plaintiff for the payment of the medical expenses incurred, as there was no doubt in his mind that the plaintiff's children had suffered from the effect of bad drainage." These decisions are based upon the common law of England, which is the law in this country except where it has been superseded by special statutes. If a landlord invites a tenant to occupy his house for rent, he should see that there are no death traps in or around it, and a few decisions in our courts like those in England might enforce this idea more effectually than a newspaper article.

CHANGE IN OVERLAND SCHEDULE TIME —On Sunday [illegible] the Northern Pacific and O R & N will [illegible] the time from St Paul to Portland to ninety [illegible]. The Pacific express will leave there at [illegible] at the same hour on the [illegible], arriving here at [illegible] East bound trains will leave at 8 30 [illegible] street dock 7 30 A M arriving in St [illegible] same hour on the fourth day and making [illegible] connection for Chicago Direct connection [illegible] made here for Puget sound A steamer leaves [illegible] 5 P M arriving at Kalama in time to [illegible] passengers and mails to the Tacoma train [illegible] will leave at 9 P M carrying a Pullman [illegible] The sound steamer will leave Tacoma [illegible] M for Seattle and Victoria thus [illegible] the trip from St Paul to Victoria in five [illegible]. The south bound train from Tacoma will also [illegible] making connection at Kalama with [illegible] here at 7 10 A M It is thought [illegible] will be the permanent summer arrangement [illegible] people of eastern Oregon and Washington [illegible] the change as they never took kindly to [illegible] but just how the sound people will [illegible] the matter remains to be seen

[illegible] —A J McMillan an engineer formerly employed on the Oregon Pacific railroad [illegible] White, formerly superintendent of construction, arrived from Corvallis Saturday night [illegible] left the same evening for New York Mr [illegible], in conversation with an OREGONIAN reporter yesterday, said the company had hardly made the necessary preparations to commence active construction [illegible] As an instance he mentions [illegible] of Chinese are at work and their [illegible] implements are six yels and fifty wheelbarrows [illegible] not a horse and their work [illegible] Mr White asked that forty [illegible] and a requisition was filled with [illegible] fell down an embankment [illegible] The right of way has [illegible] cleared, and a lot of men were cutting [illegible] with mattocks While rails are made [illegible] supplies are coming in every week [illegible] carts he saw wheelbarrows [illegible]. Contracts for piling are not [illegible] the mismanagement that [illegible] in disgust The above is McMillan's [illegible] of the work, which, he says is a grand [illegible]

[illegible] POLICE NEWS —The following [illegible] the Sunday Welcome will be news to the public [illegible] Bill Andrews and the deputy [illegible] contemporaries that are growling [illegible] at the police force in this city should [illegible] that the real controllers of that branch [illegible] government are John A Carr and [illegible] with occasional assistance [illegible] when in town—and should apply [illegible] belongs Not a movement [illegible] that does not emanate from this [illegible] and if anything is attempted [illegible] the way of forestalling the mayor [illegible] interviewed by men with [illegible] consulting with Mayor Chapman it is [illegible] with John A Carr [illegible] Bill [illegible] The blame for the demoralized condition [illegible] police force belongs to Mayor Chapman and [illegible] not to the chief of police [illegible] puppets in their hands

[illegible] NUISANCE —Jacob Kamm has been arrested for permitting a nuisance upon some property belonging to him which is located on Pine street between Front and First He will be arraigned in the [illegible] court to-day to explain his negligence If such [illegible] shown to be it is but justice to Mr Kamm [illegible] that this property is leased to other persons [illegible] has undoubtedly been [illegible] He has been connected with it for the purpose of placing the blame just where it belongs On [illegible] property is located a fish market and a Chinese [illegible] and it is alleged that the water with which [illegible] and fish are washed is allowed to run [illegible] the floors and settle in a great pool [illegible] This is the principal nuisance [illegible] odor arising therefrom being almost unbearable. The keepers of both the fish [illegible] and that sundry have been arrested upon the [illegible] charge and action upon their cases has been [illegible] by Judge Moreland until the matter can be thoroughly investigated

[illegible] —One of the songs to be sung to night by [illegible] at the commencement exercises of the [illegible] department, Willamette University is a late [illegible] by Mr. Chas. Whitney Coombs, a former [illegible] and well known here in [illegible] entitled "The Bedouin Love Song," [illegible] Bayard Taylor This same poem has been [illegible] by many favorite composers and Mr [illegible] rendition of the beautiful words musically [illegible] will compare favorably with previous efforts [illegible] Mr. Coombs has been [illegible] the past six years closely continuing his [illegible] study of musical composition and piano [illegible] at Spezia a seaport town in Italy [illegible] there until fall after which he goes [illegible] and later to Paris He expects to return [illegible] in 1886

[illegible] BY A JURY —Johnny McDonald was [illegible] a jury in Justice White's court on Saturday [illegible] been charged with stealing $21 worth [illegible] from Mrs. Hoyt The complaining witness [illegible] the mother of the boy who was implicated [illegible] Garwood in the numerous petty crimes [illegible] in South Portland and the principal witness against her son [illegible] by the defense the this fact fully explained [illegible] the absence of young McDonald's arrest [illegible] the jury took this view of the [illegible] hearing the evidence upon both sides, [illegible] discharged the boy

[illegible] —An excursion to the east some [illegible] May 15 is being arranged under the [illegible] of the Ancient Order of United Workmen [illegible] The occasion will be the departure of [illegible] of the order as delegates to the supreme [illegible] which meets at Toronto, Canada The price [illegible] for this excursion has not yet been arranged, [illegible] competing eastern roads have not [illegible] their figures. Special rates will however [illegible] to Chicago and New York with [illegible] of roads east of Chicago

[illegible] LEAGUE —The question for debate [illegible] the account of the proceedings of the [illegible] Nations league of this city was [illegible] at the meeting yesterday by B [illegible] Malone and Mr Donlin on the [illegible] and Messrs Melley and Campion on [illegible] The debate was adjourned until next [illegible] when it will be renewed A large [illegible] is expected as matters of interest to all [illegible] will be discussed

[illegible] PRESENTED —It should have [illegible] written about the Sellwood Real Estate [illegible] having presented the district with a [illegible] school building that they also presented a [illegible] costing $750 to be their pr[illegible] the district uses it as a school While [illegible] as the new High school it is [illegible] building as Multnomah county has [illegible] of Portland.

[illegible] —General O O Howard left New York [illegible] on the 16th of March He expects to [illegible] younger son, who is engaged in engineering [illegible] the other side, and will go very soon to [illegible] will spend some time and then return [illegible] in Italy and the northern countries [illegible] be gone six months and may return by [illegible] He goes for rest and recreation

[illegible] O R AND N —A gentleman lately [illegible] from New York, where he spent some time [illegible] street, says it is the belief now that the [illegible] has secured a controlling interest in [illegible] Railway and Navigation Company and [illegible] some of the money for building the [illegible] Pacific. Huntington is reported to have [illegible] that his company now controlled every [illegible] road.

[illegible] ATTACHMENT —An item in [illegible] places B M Bird the grocer in a [illegible] A lot of wood owned by C B Hatch [illegible] and as M Bird has a bill of sale of [illegible] he included in the attachment suit. [illegible] has since been settled His store on Fourth [illegible] is closed, all that is because he sold it [illegible] purchaser, living at Hillsboro, has [illegible]

Oregon and California Railroad Lands

GASTON OR March [illegible]

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

Can you inform inquiring minds why the Oregon and California and the Oregon Central railroad companies do not give a warranty deed for lands sold by them? Also are the lands granted to said companies mortgaged? C A RAYMOND

[1 The companies ordinarily do give warranty deeds There has been considerable delay for some time because there has not been a full board of trustees It is presumed that this will soon be remedied and all deeds now [illegible] through the mill issued

2 The lands are mortgaged When a piece of land is bought and paid for a deed is made and the mortgage trustees join in the deed and release the particular tract sold by the company]

At the beginning of this year the board of directors engaged the services of Mr Chris Davis our present efficient assistant secretary whom we hope to have long with us In looking forward to the future we see many departments of Christian effort which are thrusting their forms up on us, and which demand attention While with our present means we are reaching many we realize that a large number of young men in our city are not brought under our influence that might be if we had the means at our command A gymnasium and baths, increased hall room for lectures meetings etc and more class rooms that will enable us to undertake a special work for boys These and other wants are felt and must be met Meanwhile let us do our best with what we have and rest assured that in good time our every need will be supplied

In the above brief report but an outline of the work is given several branches have been barely mentioned some not at all Much of our work can not be seen should not be thus into notice Those [illegible] of young men have been brought under our influence whom we shall never meet again until we all stand before the judgment bar of heaven Now let our hearts be raised in fervent prayer that during the coming months so [illegible] we may be better fitted to do His service and honor His name to whom we ascribe all glory and praise Respectfully submitted

E C FROST

General Secretary

Rev George W Izer in his eloquent remarks said I believe in the Young Men's Christian Association of Portland believe it is doing the work of an association To save a soul is a grand thing but a grander and the grandest thing is to save a soul in time to save a life The work which looks to the saving of a life as well as a soul calls forth the sympathy of every lover of Christ Yes every lover of humanity Youth is the time We want to lodge in every young man in this city [illegible] what are we to do for you to carry on this work? But I would ask God to decrease our work [illegible] will the rich the wise the great [illegible] our city put up to the help of the Lord in providing a place for this work

AFTERNOON SERVICES

The services in the Y M C A hall in the afternoon were well attended Mr Wm Wadhams led the singing Scripture lesson was read and prayer offered by Chaplain R S Stubbs after which followed the reports of the various committees and remarks by several prominent gentlemen [illegible] Hansen said he loved the [illegible] Y M C A work not alone for the [illegible] but for the grand and much desired effect it has upon the [illegible] is the ministering [illegible] spirit of love and Christian effort Against no [illegible] provision [illegible] homeless and brought to places [illegible] good positions and save them from a life of sin

Evening Exercises

At an early hour every seat in the Congregational church was filled The services of the evening were begun by the congregation singing the old familiar hymn Jesus Lover of my Soul Rev F R Marvin then read a scriptural lesson from Luke [illegible] beginning at the 15th verse He then offered a very appropriate prayer in which he thanked God for [illegible] and its success of the work [illegible] was earnestly invoked upon the young men and the nations of the [illegible] the hour Mr Marvin then introduced Professor Warren the retiring president and introducing him he said he would say that he was in hearty sympathy with the work both here and in general He bid the work God speed Then followed the readings of the reports which are given above

Rev T L Eliot said First years ago George Williams planted the germ of the Y M C A in the city of London It has grown to be a mighty tree [illegible] Lebanon He liked the [illegible] of its brotherly kindness always at work always active [illegible] homes and food for [illegible] friendless

Several very touching incidents were related by the [illegible] gentleman in a most touching and [illegible] manner

Rev E Trumbull Lee then addressed the meeting and expressed how hearts were thrilled by the reports of the committees If there ever was a creature of the church If there ever was an organization set on fire by the Holy Ghost it is the Young Men's Christian Association Its evangelical position gives it power and commands respect in every land We have recognized something—great things, and don't let any other association can show a better six months work We have only begun We must wake up on this matter We must reach 5,000 instead of 10,000 Prayed God to prosper the work and give us grand success in the year to come

The collections for the day amounted to $477 60

MR. THOMPSON TO MR. WILSON, AGAIN.

PORTLAND March 22

To Mr John Wilson Ex School Director Dear Sir—I have carefully read your letter addressed to me in this morning's OREGONIAN You do not confine yourself to the subject under discussion [illegible] the extravagance of the school board of which you were chairman for the past year

I introduced the resolution at the school meeting held on Feb 1 [illegible] authorizing the sale of the Central school [illegible] under which the [illegible] acted [illegible] the following proposition was submitted [illegible] through [illegible]

[illegible] School District No [illegible] Multnomah County Oregon [illegible]

[illegible]

At the annual school meeting [illegible] March [illegible] building was [illegible] [illegible] to [illegible] at the [illegible] of the [illegible]

What is the result [illegible]

[illegible]

This was the result [illegible] the meeting of March [illegible] which the highest estimate had been stated [illegible] that a very high rent [illegible] for a building [illegible] cost [illegible] explain this? [illegible] complete the building for more than [illegible] year from the date you stated it would be done [illegible] of March 1884

These are certainly pertinent questions [illegible] the exception of the resolution of Mr [illegible] at the last meeting instructing the board how the [illegible] and the money voted [illegible] builder

Your letter to the architect Mr Stokes [illegible] Mr Stokes as an architect [illegible] I had [illegible] acquaintance with the gentleman I will however say since you have brought his name before the public in this discussion that Mr Stokes brought his two plans to me a few days ago and showed me the plan on which he made the estimate which was submitted to the tax payers by the directors [illegible] that such a building would cost not more than $ [illegible] but he also submitted another plan much more elaborate and vastly more expensive [illegible] and stated that this was the plan upon which the building was erected [illegible] that the basement or lower story [illegible] than by the plan first proposed [illegible] would attract more as it was much higher and more elaborate and [illegible] very expensive [illegible] Besides [illegible] the building [illegible] the [illegible] of the building alone from [illegible] the first estimate submitted by the board to the tax payers to $ [illegible] making an addition [illegible] $15 [illegible] by the architect

I am informed that Mr Krumbein a first class [illegible] submitted a proposition to the board to [illegible] rate for his architectural services than did Mr Stokes [illegible] I am also informed by another architect that he was not allowed [illegible] plans for the building [illegible] that [illegible] to submit his drawings [illegible] Mr Stokes [illegible] that the plans [illegible] were drawn four months before [illegible] the [illegible] of a high [illegible] had been submitted [illegible] that Mr Stokes had [illegible]

[illegible] that Mr Stokes was informed [illegible] extravagance [illegible] high school [illegible] Some of the [illegible] in the high school are extravagant [illegible] as should [illegible] public schools of Oregon [illegible] two [illegible] in the high school [illegible] Hopkins' Manual of American Ideas is a [illegible] book which is [illegible] to be used by all students of the high school [illegible] at the high price of [illegible] cents

It is not [illegible] matters taught therein [illegible] I certainly object to many things taught in this book because many things are taught [illegible] notably on pages 31 45 131 The same [illegible] Hebrew fellow citizens [illegible] believers of the new testament yet it is taught [illegible] quotations [illegible] high school [illegible] on pages 9 10 105 [illegible] 164 page

As it [illegible] book [illegible] of the high school [illegible] about twenty five cents This book treats of the [illegible] But I presume [illegible] extravagance [illegible] respects

The same extravagance exists in all these matters that exists in the erection of the building It appears to be understood by the board that means will not be to be used by them [illegible] matter of [illegible] of no importance [illegible] be certain [illegible] directors [illegible] in the future [illegible] the past and there will be [illegible] meeting as it was at the last, or less [illegible] to the cost of the board [illegible]

Yours respectfully D P THOMPSON

The Daily Oregonian

MONDAY MORNING MARCH 24 1884

NEWS OF SATURDAY.

From the Sunday Oregonian

The Iowa Legislature

DES MOINES Ia March 22—The house to-day passed joint resolutions asking congress to pass a law giving every honorably discharged soldier and sailor in the late war a patent for 160 acres of land without requiring their settlement thereon, also for a law allowing all surviving soldiers of the late war who were honorably discharged a uniform pension of eight dollars per month during life; also for the passage of the Robinson bill granting pensions to all soldiers and sailors and marines who were confined in rebel prisons and two dollars per day for each day they were so confined.

Joint resolutions relative to the appointment of an agent for the collection of any amount that may be due the state of Iowa from the United States on the refund of the direct war tax, and also as the rate of interest on money advanced by the state during the civil war was adopted.

Confederate Soldiers' Home

NEW YORK March 22—General J B Gordon of Georgia has appointed the following committee to confer with the committee already appointed or to be subsequently appointed by different G A R Army posts in regard to furthering the movement for a Confederate soldiers' home in Richmond: Major W H Clark of Virginia, Major Jo [illegible] of South Carolina, Colonel Thos S [illegible] of Richmond, Dr Theodore [illegible] of [illegible], Burton W Harrison of Virginia and Major J H Quincy of Tennessee. General Gordon will be chairman of the committee.

Bank Failure

DENVER, March 22—The national state bank of Boulder suspended this morning after a short run. The failure has long been anticipated.

DENVER, March 22—The failure of the State National bank of Boulder is attributed to loaning large sums on real estate security which is deemed ample but upon which it was unable to realize speedily enough to assist in this crisis. The bank owes depositors about $100 000. No crookedness is charged and the bank will undoubtedly be able to pay in full if its affairs are judiciously handled.

Gorringe Appointed Receiver

PHILADELPHIA March 22—Commodore Gorringe has been appointed receiver of the American Ship Building Company whose yard is at Port Richmond. The appointment was the result of a bill in equity filed by the Bank of New York to which the Ship Building Company was indebted for $16 000 and it was for the protection of the creditors of the company that this proceeding was taken. As the company was doing a prosperous business the suspension is expected to be but temporary.

An Important Invention

CLEVELAND March 22—Frank L Chamberlain a sportsman of local celebrity after eleven years study has perfected a machine capable of charging 1500 shotgun cartridges per hour. Prominent Cleveland and Pittsburg capitalists to-day organized a company with a quarter of a million capital to establish a manufactory here.

At Death's Door

NEW YORK March 22—August Schell for many years prominently identified with the business and political life of the city and state who has been suffering from serious illness for many months past is now rapidly sinking and is not expected to live.

Mills Shut Down

PHILADELPHIA March 22—The blanket and woolen mills of John and James Dobson, at the falls of the Schuylkill have been stopped and 1200 male and female operators are now idle.

Donated a Drinking Fountain

DUBUQUE March 22—Dr H Coggswell of San Francisco has donated a drinking fountain valued at $5000 to this city.

THE CATTLE PLAGUE.

Experts Pronounce It not the Foot and Mouth Disease

ATCHISON Kansas March 22—The Champion has a special from Osborne Kansas which announces that fifty cattle in one herd in a corral in the northwest part of Osborne county are affected with a disease similar to the foot and mouth disease now prevalent in Woodson county. The sheriff has established a quarantine against the herd and has stationed a deputy in the locality to prevent the passage of man or beast to and from. Osborne county is in the northwest part of the state, while Woodson is about 200 miles southeast.

A UNANIMOUS VERDICT

NEOSHO FALLS Kansas March 22—The following veterinary surgeons have been in consultation here and have made a thorough examination of the alleged foot and mouth disease among cattle [illegible] locality: Dr Beattie, Chicago; Dr D E Salmon, veterinarian for the department of agriculture; Dr M Trumbower, Sterling Illinois; Dr George C [illegible] ville of the Colorado state agricultural college; Dr E E Haz and an old Scotch surgeon now of Lexington Kentucky; Dr Harris Lexington Kentucky; Dr Stocker, Iowa. These gentlemen are positive that they have discovered the source of the trouble and all agree first that it is not the foot and mouth plague lacking many of the important symptoms of that disease. It is not a lack of care, neither is it alkali water. It is not a contagious disease, what ever, as not a new case has appeared for weeks, the infected herds, although the weather has been moist and wet. Dr Salmon says as soon as he saw the cattle he thought it was ergot and then proceeded and examined the hay. It had not been done before. They found that it contained a large amount of wild rye which was full of ergot. The surgeons all say that they never saw one twentieth part as much ergot in bunch feed. The theory is that the ergot by contracting the blood vessels and otherwise retarding the circulation in the extremities, caused the feet to freeze.

THE GREAT SCARE ENDED

This ends the great scare. While it has proved not to be a contagious disease yet the people of this section did only what was prudent to do. Finding a disease among the cattle which they did not understand they reported it to the governor. He applied to the general government for the best skill they could furnish. The agricultural department of Missouri sent an expert whom they fully recompensed. The agricultural department at Washington sent another. Their decision has been published far and wide. While many did not give full faith to the verdict of these experts it was thought to be the duty of the community in justice to the people of other sections to act in accordance with their decision.

IOWA CATTLE ATTACKED

KEOKUK Iowa March 22—A disease pronounced the foot and mouth disease is prevalent in Van Buren county Iowa. The herds of S D Irish and John Teibel near Keosauqua are the only ones reported in detail though others are affected. Some of the cattle were attacked in January and others a few days ago. The freezing theory is not considered tenable as the animals were all protected during the winter. Several have died. The symptoms are lameness, swelling at the ankle and then cracks of the hoof joints.

POLITICAL.

ARRANGING FOR THE REPUBLICAN CONVENTION

CHICAGO March 22—The sub-committee on arrangements of the republican national convention was in session here to-day. Senator Sabin, Hon John C New and John H Clough as proxy for Senator Logan being the only members of the committee present. John A. Martin, W W Cooper, E P Magee and Powell L Clayton other members of the committee are expected during the day. The design of the exposition building as it will be arranged for the May festival was submitted. The plan contemplates a seating capacity for 7700 people which includes a stage capacity of 1000. Members of the sub-committee appeared in favor of the plan but no action will be taken until the arrival of the full committee.

The committee decided to hold the convention in the exposition building, and in the auditorium to be constructed for the May musical festival. This will accommodate 8000 people, by utilizing the galleries. It was decided however to limit the issue of tickets to 6000 which will be printed on a steel plate to prevent counterfeiting. The national committee transferred other preliminary details for holding the convention to a committee of citizens, who will at once begin raising a fund to meet all local expenses. It was determined not to sell tickets of admission as in 1880 if it can possibly be avoided. The members of the national committee instructed the local committee to outline their plan for holding the convention and report the details to the national committeemen next Tuesday to which date adjournment was taken.

HANGED BY A MOB

MARYSVILLE Ky March 22—About forty masked men went to the jail last night. Five of them entered the jailer's residence and presented revolvers at his head and compelled him to open the jail doors. Samuel Frayer convicted of the murder of John Pennington and wife was then taken out, conducted to a wagon bridge in the southern part of town and hanged. He is said to have made a full confession stating that he had no accomplices in the murder. The mob was very quiet and dispersed as soon as the work was done.

KILLED HIS FIVE CHILDREN

AUGUSTA Ga March 22—The preliminary investigation near McBean of the killing of five negro children caused the arrest of the father Ed Dows. He was trying to raise a crop and found it difficult to provide for his family. He had doubts whether the children were his, and killed them to get rid of supporting them.

HIGH WATER IN THE MISSOURI

Great Damage Threatened at Points on the Upper River

SIOUX CITY Iowa March 22—This morning's developments prove that apprehensions about a flood were entirely wrong. The ice is rapidly going out and all fears of overflows from gorges have subsided. Information from Yankton says that the great ice gorge has broken and the river fell eleven feet last night. The ferry boat Senator at Yankton was carried away by the gorge and is supposed to be lost. There are a number of boats at this point, but all are in a safe condition with the exception of the Nellie Peck which has been pushed aground by the ice. She is in no immediate danger. All railroads entering here are undisturbed except the Milwaukee which suffered a washout about sixty miles above here in the Dakota bottom. Officials of the road state that it will be repaired by Monday. The river is open as far up as Chamberlain. The ice is going out quietly. The river is not as high here as during the ordinary breakup.

CONGRESSIONAL

WASHINGTON March 22

The house went into committee of the whole, Reagan in the chair, on the bonded extension bill. Herbert resumed argument against the bill, asserting that it was [illegible] congress [illegible] to realize [illegible] [illegible] the whisky [illegible] demand for the repeal [illegible] the whisky law [illegible]

[illegible] government and [illegible] congress [illegible] special [illegible] it was to make [illegible] the same footing [illegible] It was a measure [illegible] relief which would [illegible] When congress [illegible] the public [illegible]

Thompson supported the bill. He said the question of temperance was not involved in the measure, but if the few temperance cranks in the house would vote for the bill it would result in keeping the whisky in bond and out of consumption.

Milliken inquired if the bill passed if the whisky would not be taken out of bond in the course of time. Thompson replied that it would [illegible] consumption when it was called out by [illegible] [illegible] one of the last who before making a speech would not step behind a door and [illegible] his whistle.

Breckenridge favored the bill and made an exhaustive speech going into the history of whisky legislation.

Hiscock and Ray (New York) opposed the bill. Ray protested against the government becoming a wet nurse for the big baby whisky interest.

Findlay spoke against the bill. Before the conclusion of Findlay's speech the committee rose.

Holman from the committee on appropriations reported the pension appropriation bill. Referred to committee of the whole.

Beach offered a resolution calling on the secretary of the interior for copies of all leases made by him for the use or occupation of land in the Yellowstone National park; also for information whether the lessees had complied with the conditions of the lease and as to provisions made to prevent wanton destruction of fish and game in the park. Adopted.

THE PENSION BILL.

Its Provisions as Agreed Upon by the House Committee on Appropriations

WASHINGTON March 22—The house committee on appropriations has completed consideration of the pension appropriation bill. The measure appropriates $20 684 400 and provides that any balance of the appropriation for the current fiscal year that may be unexpended June 30 1884 shall be appropriated. This balance is estimated at $6 000 000. The appropriations in detail are: For invalids, widows, minor children and dependent relatives and for survivors and widows thereof of the war of 1812 $20 000 000; for fees and expenses of the examining surgeons $500 000; for salaries and fees [illegible] for preparing vouchers, rent, fuel [illegible] postage on letters to the executive department and to pensioners $174 400; and for contingent expenses of pension agency $10 000.

The bill provides that the act [illegible] to claim agents and attorneys in pension cases approved June 20 1878 shall be made applicable to [illegible] arrears of lost horses [illegible] land cases and pension cases in which arrears of pensions [illegible] or shall be claimed or granted. The bill further provides that it shall be unlawful for any attorney, agent or any other person to demand or receive for his services in a pension case a greater sum than $10. It also provides that the fee of $10 prescribed by it shall not be payable to nor demanded or received by any agent or attorney in pension cases until such claims shall be allowed. [illegible] allowance of arrears of pay the commissioner of pensions shall direct the same to be paid by the proper pension agent. This act shall apply to established pension as well as to all future applications.

It is provided that when a pensioner obtaining a pension or increase thereof on a pending application has heretofore paid to his agent or attorney a sum equal to the whole or any part of the fee allowed by this act said pensioner shall be entitled to credit the same against the sum which would otherwise be payable to the said agent or attorney.

The bill further provides that from and after July 1 1884 agents for the payment of pensions [illegible] only $0 [illegible] for each [illegible] voucher [illegible] for a fraction of 100 [illegible] in excess of 4000 vouchers per [illegible] provided that from and after July 1 1884 [illegible] more than twelve agents for the payment of pensions and that it shall be the duty of the president to reduce pension agencies to [illegible] their number. For 4000 vouchers [illegible] same salary as before—$4000 per year.

General Gordon has armed many of the inhabitants but they are but little against the mass of rebels fronting Khartoum. The expedition to [illegible] consisted of 200 men in three steamers. The men were concealed in the hold to avoid the fire of the Arabs on the banks of the river. The expedition returned to Khartoum having rescued the garrison, raised the siege and captured money [illegible] and arms. The expedition lost only two men.

GERMANY

EMPEROR'S BIRTHDAY

BERLIN March 22—To-day is the eighty-seventh anniversary of the emperor's birth. It is a complete holiday. Buildings throughout the city are decorated with flags. Thousands of people are thronging around the palace. Nearly all the German princes are present. The first congratulatory telegram received was from Queen Victoria.

The emperor appeared at the windows of the palace whereupon the multitude that thronged the streets saluted him with enthusiastic [illegible] cheers. Bismarck drove to the palace through the cheering crowds and at the head of the ministry offered his congratulations to the emperor. Later he paid a second visit at the head of a deputation of Prussian nobility. The ceremony of mounting guard was attended by the princes and military officers of Berlin in full uniform. The watchword for the day is "Long live his majesty the emperor and king." The emperor has appointed Captain von Zerkendorff of the navy his principal aid de camp. This is the first time the honor has gone to the navy.

RUMORED CUT IN RATES

ST LOUIS March 22—It is reported that the Chicago and Alton has sold 1000 unlimited tickets from Chicago to Kansas City to a well-known Toledo ticket scalper for $9000. The scalper is said to be to carry passengers from Toledo to Kansas City via Chicago at a heavy cut to meet the alleged cut by the Wabash. General Passenger Agent Townsend of the Wabash denies emphatically that the Wabash has cut rates. Railroad officials here apprehend a rate war.

Ross offers to match Thompson against Sullivan in a fair stand up fight according to the new rules of the London prize ring for from $2500 to $5000 a side and the championship of the world, the fight to come off four months from signing the articles.

BRITISH COLUMBIA

News Notes from Victoria.

The news from Ottawa of the passage of the settlement bill causes intense satisfaction. This bill comprehends the construction of a dry dock by the dominion government and the laying of a railway by Stanford, Crocker and Dunsmuir. It is believed with the railway and a short ferry connecting at Burrard's inlet that Victoria will be practically the terminus of the Canadian Pacific railway. In consequence to-day speculation in land is active and prices have taken an upward bound.

Houses and rooms are scarce and the town is filled with people.
